“ We have over a half century history with State Farm. Initially with Jon's father, Marion, and then continuing on with Jon, upon his retirement. There was always a friendly exchange of information- bordering on a neighborly chat-with Jon at each encounter. The accumulating years were never noticed until Jon retired. Then, the void left in our relationship became quite obvious. The same as now, when necessity requires a sorrowful final "goodbye," to a man we were privileged to call "friend" for so may years. We send our deepest regrets to Grace and the family, for their loss of this remarkable man, who shared their lives.
